

To whom it may concern,

I am a physician and resident of the State of Indiana. I would like to express my strong opposition to the Consumer Bankers Association's (CBA) challenge to the Indiana Do Not Call Telephone privacy list. The corporations represented by the CBA (financial institutions) which I do business with should not be allowed to call people without prior permission or request by the citizen.

It is a violation of my privacy to have dozens of phone calls daily (which is the amount of harrassment I was subjected to prior to the passage of the Do Not Call list). The No Call list has been a life saver!! I am sending a comment to my current banking institutions that if they support this measure, and it goes on to weaken the current Indiana statute, that I will no longer do business with their institution in order to avoid the harrassing calls.

(Please note that these instituions already have ample opportunity - and use it - to contact me through their voluminous mailings and e-mails, as well as TV and radio ads.

There is absolutely no need for further means to solicit me.)

Please, I implore you, DO NOT weaken the Indiana statute!!!

Every person should have the right to peace in their own home.

Sincerely,

Lawrence C. McBride, MD FACS
